BOIL WATER
NOTICE

The Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation Drinking Water Program requires all users of the Thorne Bay Public Water System to boil water for human consumption during the disruption in water service and until notified.

The water supply has been turned back on as of Tuesday, February 11, 2020. However, water from this system that is used for drinking, cooking or other potable purposes should be boiled for 2 minutes prior to use to help ensure that the water is safe for potable use. This notice is in effect until sample results indicate harmful bacteria are not present and DEC rescinds the boil water notice.
